The products

Train the Trainer Qualification Curricula for acquiring additional competences in energy consulting.

Didactic guidelines and recommendations how to introduce these materials within the framework of existing teaching schemes, with relation to the specific demands and needs of individual users and to the specific learning.

An implementation concept how to put these materials into the learning practice.

The aim of the conference

The aim of the conference is both to disseminate the results and output of the project and to exchange experiences and practices among the participants, also receiving suggestions for raising the interest of educational policy makers and the respective organisations and to receive suggestions for further initiatives.
